Diploma in Project Controls

Those seeking to excel in the crucial world of project controls are invited to enrol in our Diploma in Project Controls, meticulously designed by Projcon Group and validated by the ETA, a UK government-approved awarding body. This practical program equips participants with the essential tools and knowledge to become project control specialists.

A solid foundation in project management principles is established, encompassing project lifecycles, stakeholder management, and communication strategies. Learners then delve into specialised skills that keep projects on track.

The curriculum covers the fundamentals of project control, including the creation and management of project baselines. Expertise in scheduling and cost control is developed, along with the ability to create realistic timelines and budgets and monitor them for optimal performance. Master the art of estimating project needs and effectively managing resources, ensuring efficient project execution. Furthermore, they develop the skills to track performance against baselines, allowing for proactive identification and mitigation of potential issues. Learning is solidified by applying newly acquired skills to a work-based project, fostering hands-on experience and building confidence in project control abilities.

Upon successful completion, this ETA-validated program awards participants a UK government-validated certificate with 120 credits, a valuable asset recognised worldwide and a testament to their project control expertise.
